ACCUSED GIRL
IS UNDER FIRE
OF QUESTIONSProsecutor Seeks Light on Miss Farley's Past Life.

FAILS TO SHATTER HER STORY

Tries For Hours to Rend the Threads
of Her Detailed Description of Relations With Zollinger — Succeeds.
However, In Getting Her to Admit
She Did Not Greatly Fear the Advertising Solicitor.

Columbus, O., Nov. 21.—Though Prosecutor Turner ingeniously tried for four hours to rend the threads
of her detailed description of relations with Alvin E. Zollinger, for whose murder she is now on trial, Cecelia Farley met the cross-questioner frankly and with answers which in most instances seemed to strengthen her position. Only occasionally was the prosecutor able to get her to modify parts of the story she related the day before. He succeeded in getting her to admit that she did not greatly fear Zollinger or that he would disclose their intimate secrets.

Back and forth from the time of her first meeting Zollinger in the early fall of 1902 to the day preceding the tragedy in Franklin park, Prosecutor Turner questioned her in an effort to catch her off her guard and, if possible, secure admissions from her which would contradict her former statement. To all questions which might tend to discredit a former statement she would reply, "It might have been" or "I do not remember."

Christians
Are Killed
In Palestine
Crusier SailsReport of Massacres in Jaffa Alarms Official Circles.

Athens, Greece, Nov. 21.—Reports of massacres of Christians in Jaffa, Palestine, caused the commander of the Russian cruiser Olga to weigh anchor and depart hurriedly for that district. The American cruiser Tennessee is now believed to be at Gibraltar on its way to the Syrian coast.

Five Christian missionary societies are represented in Jaffa, Palestine.
There is also an American orphanage.
There are supposed to be about 10,000 Christians among the inhabitants, the total of whom is estimated at about 40,000. There are eight Christian churches and four Jewish synagogues.
There is an English hospital and a French hospital.

Officials Apprehensive.
Washington, Nov. 21.—Officials here admit they have been apprehensive of grave troubles on the Syrian coast, where the religious differences between the Mohammedans and Christians are well known.

Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—Enthusiasm in the belief that their cause will triumph and that the privilege of the ballot will be granted to women throughout the United States within the next few years, hundreds of delegates from all parts of the country are here to participate in the forty-

In Dragnet
Of Uncle SamNation-wide Raid Made on Doctors and Drug Concerns.

Columbus, O., Nov. 21.—Charles F.
Hatton of the Hatton pharmacy, was arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Al Bauer on a charge of sending unmailable matter through the mails for an improper purpose. The specific offense charged is that he sent to Woodsfield, O., a device which the government does not permit to be sent through the mails, and Mr. Hatton is only one of 173 druggists, physicians, manufacturers and others who were taken into custody on similar charges. The raid covered the entire country, taking in 72 leading cities, and is the largest ever planned and executed by any department of the federal government.

The raids were made in cities from New York to San Francisco. In Ohio arrests were made in Steubenville, Toledo, Columbus, Springfield, Dayton, Conroy, Mount Vernon, Cincinnati and Cleveland.

UNION DEFEAT
BY BIG VOTESOCIALISTS STIR
UP CONVENTIONStormy Debate Marks Labor
Federation's Proceedings.

ADMINISTRATION AGAIN WINS

Trades Delegates, After Hearing Addresses by John Mitchell and Samuel Gompers, Vote Against the Adoption of the Principle of Industrial Unionism—Delegate Egan of Ohio Leads the Attack.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 21.—The adoption of the principle of industrial unionism went down to defeat by a decisive vote in the convention of the American Federation of Labor. Stormy debates between Socialists and those supporting the administration again marked the proceedings. A free-for-all fight seemed imminent at one time when James P. Egan, delegate of the Ohio Federation of Labor, a member of the typographical union, characterized those who advocated industrialism as "paper mache revolutionists, advocating free love and Fletcher-ism." The turmoil for a few minutes following that attack, savagely made, threatened to precipitate a fight, but by effective action with the gavel President Gompers gradually restored order.

The Socialists made a marked impression on the many visitors at the convention by their argument for industrialism, and they were ably supported by a speech by John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, second vice-president of the federation. At the conclusion of Mr. Mitchell's talk he was cheered by both factions.

Those favoring the craft union policy were weak in argument on the question at issue, but were strong in interjecting extraneous discussion.
Delegate Egan's remarks were characteristic of similar attacks by other delegates.

The strongest argument against the adoption of the industrial policy was a talk made by President Gompers, in which he said that the delegates seemed to forget that the federation was not the parent but the child of the unions; that its functions were not to adopt policies to be accepted by the individual unions, and that the question of industrialism should be left to the unions themselves to work out in their own way.

Carnegie
Gives Away
$200,000Substantial Addition to Fund For Advancement of Teaching.

New York, Nov. 21.—The trustees of the Carnegie fund for the advancement of teaching held their annual meeting at the offices of the foundation in Fifth avenue. It was announced that since last meeting Mr.
Carnegie has added $2,000,000 to the endowment fund, making a total of about $14,000,000. This $2,000,000 will be added to the endowment fund of $5,000,000 to be used for state universities. The report of the president showed that 43 allowances and pensions were granted in the past year, making 398 now in force at an annual cost of $370,000.

be the first White House bride after March 4, 1913.

Austria Reported to Have Issued an Ultimatum to Serbia Regarding the Latter's Acquiring an Adriatic Port.
Quarrel Develops Among the Balkan States Regarding Disposition of the Spoils.

London, Nov. 21.—While Turkey is reported to have agreed to the peace terms demanded by the Balkan allies, war is threatened between Austria and Serbia. Dispatches from Berlin declare Austria has forwarded Serbia an ultimatum.

Not only is Austria determined to prevent Serbia's acquiring an Adriatic port, but officials at Vienna declare their government has been outraged by the treatment Serbia accorded the Austrian consul, Prochaska, at Prizrend.

Italy also has demanded an explanation from Serbia for the treatment of its consuls in Albanian towns captured by the Serbian troops. It is believed a reckless military has gained control at Belgrade, threatening to upset the government unless it plunges the country into another war.

In furtherance of peace between Turkey and the allies, Nazim Pasha was appointed by the sultan to confer with the Bulgars. General Savoff represented the Bulgarians.

Fighting Ceases.

Pending peace negotiations, the Bulgarian troops at Tchatalja were ordered to cease fighting and merely hold their positions.

If Austria tries to prevent Serbia forcibly from securing the Adriatic "window," which the Servians consider they have won honestly from the Turks, it will not only have trouble first with Serbia and then with Russia, but will provoke a revolt in its own provinces where Czechs, Servians and other Slavs predominate.

At Salonica, it has been learned, the Greeks and Bulgarians came close to an actual fight for possession of the town. They finally compromised on a joint occupation, but the question of permanent title remains in dispute.

Bulgaria thinks it should have Mon-astir, because it is situated in a district where Bulgarians are numerous.
The Greeks claim it on the ground that their nationality is largely represented in the population of the town itself. The Servians say they captured the town and are entitled to keep it.

PROFESSIONAL YEGGMEN CRACK SAFE LAST NIGHT AND MAKE THEIR ESCAPE

O. D. Marchant's Store Visited, But Cracksmen Secure Nothing of Value to Them.

USED AN AUTOMOBILE IN MAKING GETAWAY

Safe Door Shattered By Heavy Charge of Nitroglycerine--Jimmied Side Door, But Disturbed Nothing Else Except Safe. Key Was Overlooked--No Clew Left Behind.

About two o'clock Thursday morning professional yeggs, using an automobile to make their escape, placed a charge of nitroglycerine in the safe at O. D. Marchant's store on Elm street, and blew the safe door to atoms, only to find that there was no money in the strong box.

The safe-blowing was one of the most daring ever attempted in this city, and every indication points to professionals who did the job, and who were soon miles away from the scene, traveling by high-power automobile.

The safe was blown about two o'clock, according to persons living near the store who were aroused by a heavy explosion and the noise of an automobile leaving the vicinity. However the wrecked safe was not discovered until about six o'clock Thursday morning when Mr. Marchant went to open up the store for the day.

He discovered that the side door had been jimmied, the jimmies forcing the latch from its fastening and bursting the woodwork. The auto had evidently been left standing just outside the store while the work was going on.

The safe, an old one, which locked by means of a huge key, was in the front part of the store near the window. The key was nearby, but had evidently been overlooked. Nitroglycerine had been poured into the keyhole and the charge exploded.

The charge was so heavy that the explosion completely wrecked the safe door, blowing the handle entirely through the back of a chair nearby. Pieces of the safe door were scattered about the room.

After the door had been blown, two small tin boxes containing some papers belonging to Mr. Marchant, but which could be of no value to the yeggs, were carried off, but there was nothing else of value in the safe.

A cash drawer nearby, containing a small amount of change, was not molested, and in fact nothing else in the store was stolen so far as known. The men were apparently after nothing else but the contents of the safe, and when they secured the two tin boxes, lost no time in making their escape.

A small tin box, containing a few drops of some fluid was the only thing left behind, and it is thought the nitroglycerine was in the box.

After leaving the premises the automobile load of yeggs went east on Elm street to Main, and turning up Main came up through the business district, but which direction they then went is not known.

TWO-HEADED MONSTER MUMMY CAUSES COMMENT

Egyptian Freak in Columbus Is Object of Wonder and Conjecture, and Was Formerly Owned By New Holland Boy, Who Purchased It From a Stranded Showman.

Several weeks ago a stranded showman dropped into New Holland, and, not being able to get out of the town without making a "raise", he disposed of his most treasured possession—a huge two-headed Egyptian mummy, and Eugene McLain was the youth who purchased the ancient specimen of humanity.

Young McLain paid the man $10 for the mummy, and the unusual specimen attracted a great deal of attention. Careful examination failed to reveal any fake to His Mummieship. The peculiar odor of mummies, together with the cloth in which the mummy was wrapped, and in fact everything about it appeared to be genuine.

The foreigner who was compelled to sell his treasure because he had nothing to eat, had traveled about the country exhibiting the freak. It was nearly 8 feet long.

Some little time ago McLain was offered a neat sum for his freak possession, and he immediately accepted the offer, and the two-headed wonder passed from his possession into the hands of a man in Columbus. The sequel to the change in ownership is given by the State Journal as follows:

"Stretched across the parlor floor from corner to corner at the home of John Karschner, 1814 East Main St., Columbus, Tuesday night, lay a two-headed monster, nine feet tall, and which, according to the owner, weighed 180 pounds. It was said to be a real mummy.

"The owner declared it was found in Virginia, but that he got it at Circleville yesterday. How it reached Circleville he did not state. Another man present in the crowd of curious gathered about said it was found at Piketon, Pike county, while a pessimist present remarked that it probably came from a papier mache factory. Inquisitive neighbors poked and prodded the mysterious monster just like real scientists.

"One head was that of a man and the other of a woman. The ribs on the left side were crushed and it was explained that a mastodon probably had kicked the giant, which caused its death."

Bishop Vincent To Confirm Class

Of pre-eminent interest in the newly established Episcopalian church of this city will be the coming Sunday, when Bishop Vincent, of Cincinnati, bishop of the diocese of Southern Ohio, will confirm a class of 15 or 20.

Arch-deacon Cook, of Dayton, comes over tomorrow to hold services Friday night in Memorial hall preparatory to the Confirmation of Sunday.

Bishop Vincent arrives Saturday to confer with the vestrymen in regard to the securing of a site for the erection of the Episcopalian chapel, which is hoped will be soon underway.

Bishop Vincent will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hunt during his stay in this city.

REMEMBER.

As the men and women of the land grow busy with their Christmas care and worries, as they call them, but the "worries" are really Christmas pleasures after all, they should not be unmindful of the poor.

There are many avenues provided through which donations, large and small, will find their way into the hands of the worthy poor.

Remember, while we are busy with our pleasant joyful Christmas troubles that each community numbers many of those who are not so blessed.

Thousands and thousands of good men and women have organized themselves into working forces to assist those who need assistance.

These organizations enable those who can not give much to give a little—the little they can give, but which would not be given if the giver was compelled to see to its distribution. Many of these small contributions are inconsequential in themselves, but when thousands are added together the sum total is one which will cheer many a home, lighten many a burden and sooth many an aching heart.

People have not yet fully realized just what this work means, just what great good can be accomplished by it, just how the pennies, the nickels, the dimes and the quarters pile up into a mountain underlaid with broad strata of the pure gold of real charity which is mined, smelted, coined into real happiness, and circulated among the poor and lowly.

Every man, every woman, every boy and every girl should give of their abundance liberally, but above all they should never pass by the collection boxes of the charity workers without dropping some coin into it.

The larger giving is not so easily forgotten, but time has proven that there is not enough of the larger giving to go around. It is from the small amounts given that the largest good is possible.

Let us all try to realize and try to remind ourselves every time we pass by the collection box or hear the tinkling bell of the Salvation worker that a penny or a nickel or a dime from us will help and that we, in giving it, are paying only a small part of the interest due on the abundance which Providence has loaned us during our life.

Reading Test

Would Keep Out Many Honest Toilers

By MICHAEL BROWN, New York

I AM OPPOSED to any reading test for immigrants because it would keep out of this country millions of honest toilers, good and useful men and women who deserve an opportunity in life and who have been deprived of it through no fault of their own.

Illiteracy, as every one knows, is the result of oppression, and it would appear poor Americanism, indeed, to close the doors of our country, which has maintained the high doctrine that the oppressed and persecuted peoples of all lands should find an asylum here.

Labor omnia vincit. Men of brawn are far more important than the men of brain in the building of our railroads, subways, harbors. Every able-bodied immigrant coming to our country enriches it by his honest labor, whether it be in factory or mine, or as trench digger. On the other hand, American ideals may suffer rudely at the hands of one who possesses all the intellectual qualifications, but is devoid of that which is far more essential—true nobility of character, such as we often find among the illiterate class.

Have the supporters of and the agitators for the educational test considered that the marvelous growth of this country and its prosperity, unequalled in the history of the world, are due to the liberal immigration laws?

Some of our best citizens have sprung from parents who, had they been required to pass any kind of educational test, would surely have been excluded from the country. Our democratic ideas, together with the educational opportunities afforded immigrants and their children, do more to educate them than all the educational tests in the world could accomplish. Under our system of public school education the second generations of immigrants become perfectly assimilated. What is rather to be deplored, however, is the fact that the second generation, like the born Americans, refuse to follow the occupations of their fathers, but seek lighter vocations. This is another argument in favor of the immigrants who are satisfied to do the work which the native born are loth to perform.

The claim that because people lack the opportunities in their own country they are therefore inferior to ourselves would be most dangerous if accepted. It not only deals a death blow to liberty, of which we have boasted in the past, but it is a concession to a decadent spirit and to antiquated and bigoted ideas.

President Eliot of Harvard properly declared that the only questions which should be asked of an immigrant are, Is he healthy, strong and desirous of earning a good living? This, to my mind, is an expression of true Americanism. And, like Dr. Eliot, I believe that a reading test should be applied when the foreigner proposes to become a citizen and not before.

Poetry For Today

WHEN THE PARTY DIES.

When the lion eats grass like an ox,
And the angle, worm swallows the whale,
When the terrapin feasts on the fox,
And the hare is outrun by the snail.

When serpents walk upright like men,
And doodlebugs travel like frogs,
When grasshoppers feed on the hen,
And feathers appear upon hogs.

When billy goats swim in the air,
And elephants roost in the trees,
When insects in summer are rare,
And the water dries up in the seas.

When money exceeds the demand,
And the seashore goes out with the tide,
When rabbits lay eggs in the sand,
And the bridegroom eclipses the bride.

When the humming bird brays like a mule,
And Limburger smells like a rose,
When Hades is pleasant and cool,
And a chicken has seventy toes.

When hair reappears on the head,
And wool on a hydraulic ram;
Then the party we love will be dead,
And creation will end with a slam.

No More Cotton For Santa Claus

The state of Ohio is planning to put a legal ban on Santa Claus.

In the new building and fire protection code which is being drafted for the state by Architect Fred Eliot, and which will be recommended to the next legislature by state department heads, a penalty will be inflicted for the use of cotton and other inflammable material in the make-up of the Santa Claus who in the past have delighted the children around Christmas time.

And what will Santa be without a cotton-fringed coat, highly inflammable whiskers, and an excelsior packed sack on his back?

The clause is aimed directly at the Santas who frequent downtown shops during the crowded holiday season and who come "down the chimney" at church affairs on Christmas eve.

"They are a source of real danger and have caused many serious fires in the past," State Fire Marshal Zuber declared Saturday. "This year instructions will be issued to the department's 30 deputies to guard particularly against the fire danger of their flimsy make-up. After the adoption of the new code they will be put entirely out of business."

The code as drafted, provides against the use of cotton and inflammable tinsel in all sorts of store and public building decorations, unless it is shown to be fire resisting.

ARMY DRUM LONG OUTWORN

Its Abolition in Russia For War Purposes Follows Example of Other Countries

MERELY SENTIMENTAL ADJUNCT

Col. Heistand Points Out that It Belonged to the Old Days of Bright Uniforms and Noddy Phalanxes—The Drummer Boy of Fiction.

If there has been but little comment in army circles here over the news that the Russian government has just decided to do away with its army drummers in time of war, it is because Russia, instead of introducing an innovation in the art of warfare, has merely followed in the footsteps of many another civilized nation. The United States army, according to officers in the service, abolished its drummers years ago, and there are few countries to-day which continue to maintain a drum and fife corps for purposes of warfare.

To be sure, there are drummers in our army to-day, but their services are designed for use in times of peace. So, too, in the Russian army.

An order signed the other day by Czar Nicholas provided that Russian drummers hereafter should be trained in marksmanship, so as to be prepared to become active combatants in time of need. These conditions, new to Russia, have prevailed in this and other countries, it is said, for many years. Ever since modern methods began to be introduced in military tactics it was a foregone conclusion that the drum and the fife must sooner or later go the way of many other antiquated implements. Like the pyramids of neatly piled cannon balls which decorate the yards of army garrisons throughout the land, they are to-day relics of a past that has played its part in history and is now outgrown. Army men, however, are perhaps inclined to bestow a little sentiment on the corps of musicians who were once regarded as an indispensable adjunct to every military organization. But from a purely practical point of view, they admit that the institution has no longer any reason for existing.

Perhaps, also, the "drummer boy" of story-book notoriety, who was ever to be relied on to turn the tide of battle when his comrades were about ready to throw down their arms and beat a hasty retreat, was not quite as picturesque in reality as might be supposed.

The army drummer had his shortcomings, according to Col. H. O. Heistand, adjutant-general of the Department of the East, who is stationed on Governor's Island.

"For one thing," said the colonel to-day, "the drum required as much care as any rifle. When the weather was at all bad, the sheepskin would get wet and the next thing you knew your drums were out of commission altogether."

"Besides, he only gives his army's whereabouts away. You see, he belongs to the age of bright, gaudy uniforms, helmets, and the like, when men marched out into the open and fired volleys at another body of men all drawn up in martial array. But the time for such things has passed. Nowadays, we wear dull-colored uniforms, for concealment, and everything is done on an entirely different principle."

"The Russians have only done what most other countries have done, but I would not like to say that they had been backward about making the change."

"From what I know of them, the Russians are good soldiers. I saw a good deal of them over in China during the Boxer campaign, and they left a very favorable impression."

Col. Heistand added that, despite the changes which had been responsible for the abolition of the drum and fife corps, there was still a demand, in time of war, for the bugler. The bugler, he said, served a useful purpose because he could communicate official orders over a great territory.

But the drum and fife no longer fill a place in the machinery of warfare. In most instances, they have been incorporated in the band and are now heard only when the troops are on parade.

Endurance of a Guide.

An Alpine guide, Philippe Allamand, of Bex, has gained publicity in the Swiss papers by a marvelous pedestrian achievement. He started on a Monday from Haesch and ascended to the Weisshorn hut, whence he returned to the valley to fetch a member of his party who had been left behind. There was time for only three hours' sleep after that, and then the Weisshorn had to be climbed. It was in bad condition, and the ascent took nearly eleven hours. No sooner had he reached the top than Allamand hastened down and proceeded to Zermatt to join another party who had engaged him for the Matterhorn. He overtook them in the hunt at four o'clock on Tuesday morning, went up the Matterhorn at once, and did not get back until eleven o'clock on Wednesday night, having been forty-four hours without sleep, walking and climbing all the time. Even then he took only a day's rest before leading a party up the Dent Blanche.

Eye Witness Saw Crime Of Lawyer Committed

Witnesses Make Out Strong Case of Circumstantial Evidence.
Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 21.—In the trial of Burton W. Gibson, the lawyer accused of murdering his client for her estate, the state's principal witness made out a strong case of circumstantial evidence against the accused.
"Pressure on the pneumogastric nerves controlling the heart and lungs will cause death instantaneously," declared Dr. George W. King of Jersey City. "The lungs were flat. Nothing found at the autopsy indicated that the deceased died of drowning. Everything indicates that she died of strangulation by force, applied from without."
This testimony followed a demonstration by John Minturn, grocer, of Sterling Forest, who told how he saw Gibson struggling with the Szabo woman in the boat on the day the woman was drowned. This witness described in some detail what he saw on the day of the woman's death.

Accused Girl Under Fire of Questions

Turner asked Miss Farley about her conversation with Mrs. Belden, the detective, in regard to a ball player. Turner asked her if that ball player was not Bill Nance, and if he was not a married man.
"He was not a married man!" said Miss Farley.
Turner next asked the defendant if she did not give her age as 24 when arrested in this case, and if she did not do it in order to make her age tally with the time she had said Zollinger led her astray at the age of 16. She denied giving her age as 24 for that purpose.

Admits Writing Letters.

The girl admitted writing letters from Kansas City to Zollinger, in which she said she couldn't sleep because he had not been there to caress her. She also admitted she addressed him as "Dear Dutch," and that he stayed in a room next to hers at her brother's house while there.
She told of a trip to Cincinnati, where she and Zollinger registered at a hotel as man and wife, and where they had their meals sent up to the room.

Answering a question of Turner, the accused girl said: "I thought I loved Zollinger and that he loved me from the time we met in the fall of 1902 up to January, 1911, when I met Quigley. He was very jealous of me and at times I was jealous of him."

Turner tried to break down the stenographer's story that Zollinger took advantage of her early girlhood, that he pursued her insistently for nearly 10 years, that he was in a mood to kill her after she became engaged last January to Jerome Quigley, and slay her and himself as well.

Like lightning bolts he hurled one carefully considered question after another at her, with the purpose of showing that it was she who invited Zollinger's attentions, was willing to wreck the home of a married man on whom a wife and little children were dependent, went so far as to travel hither and thither with Zollinger as his wife.

SUGAR UNDERWEIGHED?

Claim of Government Which Seeks to Recover Duties.

New York, Nov. 21.—Charges that gratuities amounting to bribes were paid to the Federal Sugar Refining company, of which Claus A. Spreckels is president, to government weighers, were made by the government attorney in connection with a suit brought by the government to recover $119,080.98 in duties. The government claims that cargoes of sugar received at the sugar company's plant between 1902 and 1909 were so frequently underweighed that $119,080.98 in duties is still owing. The summons and complaint were filed in the United States district court and the papers were served upon Mr. Spreckels at his office.

PORTO RICO'S NEW WONDER.

From far away Porto Rico came reports of a wonderful new discovery that is believed will vastly benefit the people. Ramon T. Marchan, of Barceloneta, writes "Dr. King's New Discovery is doing splendid work here. It cured me about five times of terrible coughs and colds, also my brother of a severe cold in his chest and more than 20 others, who used it on my advice. We hope this great medicine will yet be sold in every drug store in Porto Rico." For throat and lung troubles it has no equal. A trial will convince you of its merit. 50c and $1.00. # OHIO HAPPENINGS

Brennan Wants Emergency Fund.
Columbus, O., Nov. 21.—State Treasurer-elect John P. Brennan will ask the legislature to set aside a fund on which the state emergency board may draw. He figures that the state would have saved $15,000 in interest payment to banks had this provision been in force during the last year and a half since the adjournment of the last legislature.

Thirty Persons Poisoned.
Bellefontaine, O., Nov. 21.—After eating new buckwheat flour 30 persons near Roundhead, this county, became seriously ill. It is thought they were poisoned by some plant which grew in the buckwheat and had been ground into the flour. Members of the family of John Clevenger have been unconscious since eating cakes made from the flour.

Girl Gets Big Damages.
Cleveland, O., Nov. 21.—A jury in common pleas court awarded Julia Kaszmarek $10,000 damages in her suit for that amount for alleged slander against F. C. Hoffman and others, members of St. Casimir's church here. She charged that a hand bill, circulated in 1911 by a church committee which sought to oust the pastor, slandered her.

Banker Hangs Himself.

Evidence Of Stenographer Is Damaging To Accused

Miss Mary Dye Is Witness In Dynamite Conspiracy Case.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 21.—Miss Mary C. Dye, a stenographer, who, witnesses said, was marked for murder by James B. McNamara, the Los Angeles Times dynamiter, because she worked for the iron workers' union and "knew too much," testified at the dynamite conspiracy trial. She asserted she had been followed by detectives, and on one occasion another of the McNamara brothers had forced an entrance to her room at a hotel to search for papers which he desired to destroy.

Miss Dye identified hundreds of letters introduced by the government to sustain its contention that Frank M. Ryan, president of the union, and the 44 other defendants conspired to transport explosives illegally in furtherance of dynamite plots against nonunion firms. The letters were written by John J. McNamara, secretary of the union.
The witness testified she quit the employ of the iron workers before the Los Angeles explosion, but she had written many letters which, the government charges, were in furtherance of earlier explosions.

FLAGGED TRAIN WITH SHIRT.

Tearing his shirt from his back an Ohio man flagged a train and saved it from a wreck, but H. T. Alston, Raleigh, N. C., once prevented a wreck with Electric Bitters. "I was in a terrible plight when I began to use them," he writes, "my stomach, head, back and kidneys were all badly affected and my liver was in bad condition, but four bottles of Electric Bitters made me feel like a new man." A trial will convince you of their matchless merit for any stomach, liver or kidney trouble. Price 50 cents at Blackmer & Tanquary.

Fear Row With Mexico Is Now Near At Hand

Washington Officials Take Notice of the Border Outbreaks.
Washington, Nov. 21.—So intense is the feeling of hostility between American residents of Texas and New Mexico and Mexicans residing along the border that officials here fear a serious issue between this country and Mexico.

A state department dispatch said that in a brawl in Chihuahua, John J. Brooks, an American, was killed after a gun fight with the ex-mayor of Casas Grandes, now a rebel leader.

The war department is investigating a riot at Bracketville, Tex., between American soldiers from Fort Clark and Mexicans who are American citizens. Several soldiers and Mexicans were seriously stabbed and one Mexican killed.

Christians are more pronounced than in any other part of the Ottoman empire. American interests in that quarter are large, not only owing to the extensive fruit trade, but because of the presence of a large number of American missionary and educational institutions.

TO FLY BY NIGHT

Bonfires, Fireworks and Electric Lights Will Aid the Aviators.

Garden City, L. I., Nov. 21.—An innovation in aeroplane flying will be started at the Hempstead Plains aviation field Saturday and Sunday evenings, when night aviation is to be put into commission. In addition to a perfectly good full moon it is intended to have bonfires burning in front of each hangar, which in themselves will make a giant illumination. In addition to this there will be fireworks in the way of torches and colored lights out on the field, and each aeroplane is to be fitted out with incandescent lights. George Beattie and his pupil, Julius Kowalczyk, an Austrian, will be among the aviators who will be sure to fly unless it rains.

IRONING CABINET.

Closet Holds Board, Irons and Other Necessary Paraphernalia.

Another man has answered the housekeeper's question, "What shall I do with the ironing things?" This man, a Philadelphian, has invented a cabinet which holds the board, irons and all the other incidental paraphernalia. This cabinet is a tall, narrow affair which does not take up much room and will scarcely be noticed in the corner. In the top is a shelf to hold the irons, while on the inner sides are runways with slides operative in them. One end of an ironing board is pivoted to the runner carried between the slides, and on the other end of the board is pivoted a supporting leg. When the board is to be used the closet door is opened and it is swung out into place. The irons and wax are there ready to hand, and there is practically no time lost in getting ready. Another advantage of this cabinet is the fact that it is not necessary to clear the kitchen table to get a space to support one end of the board.—Boston Post.

Well Fed Cattle.

If cattle, young or old, are allowed to become too poor, or fed for a time on insufficient nutritious food, as barley straw, they are liable to become infested with lice, mostly about the head, neck and withers. These may be best destroyed by dressing with phenyle or other carbolic preparation. Care should be exercised when applying any wash of a poisonous nature, as serious ices sometimes result through the animal licking its skin.

A Sly Suggestion.

They had reached the outer portals of the front door, and were there going through the process of parting, very lingeringly.

"When I say good night to you this evening," gurgled Mr. Youngslo, "do you think it would be proper for me to place one reverent kiss upon your fair hand?"

"Well," she sighed, softly, as she laid her head quietly on his shoulder, "I should consider it decidedly out of place."—Lippincott's.

Why He Let Go.

Roger Cornell tells of an Irish friend of his who fell off a high building. About twenty feet above the ground the Irishman grabbed a wire and held on for a bit, then let go of it and continued his sudden journey downward.

"What did you let go of that wire for?" asked a friend in the hospital. "Sure, I was afraid the damned wire would break," said Pat.—Louisville Times.

Symphony Concert At Columbus Thanksgiving Night

Under its new director, Dr. Ernest Kunwald, the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra of 85 musicians, will open the Symphony Concert at Columbus, Thanksgiving night, Nov. 28th. As to a soloist, they have Miss Alma Beck, a contralto of whose work many fine things have been said. The Cincinnati Enquirer, in a recent issue, speaking of her work, says: "Her brilliant contralto voice was under perfect control, and the way she sang the familiar and effective, 'My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice,' challenged comparison with any performance."

In the judgment of musicians, Dr. Kunwald is the most efficient and most authoritative conductor who has come west of New York City to take charge of an orchestra since the days of the late Theodore Thomas. After only a few weeks he finds himself the leader of musical thought in Cincinnati, and Columbus will be the first town outside of its own home to hear the orchestra under its new director. The full strength of the orchestra will go on tour for this concert, which is more than is usually done by so large an organization. The program follows:

Overture to "Der Freischütz"..... Weber
Aria "Ach Mein Sohn" ("The Prophet")..... Meyerbeer
"Unfinished" Symphony..... Schubert
Intermission.
Les Preludes..... Liszt
Aria "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice"
"Samson and Delilah"..... Saint Saens Vorspiel und Liebestod (Tristan)..... Wagner Overture to "Tannhauser"..... Wagner

In order to put this concert within the reach of all, the auditorium has been scaled at prices from 50c to $1.00. There will be more than 1500 seats available for the price of $1.00 or less. Out-of-town mail orders will receive the same attention as those buying in person. Remittances may be made to T. T. Frankenberg, care McClelland's Book Store, where the tickets will go on sale November 25th. Early indications point to a large representative audience from central Ohio for this concert.

Plan Celebration Of Ohio State Day

Following in the wake of the enthusiastic celebration of Ohio State Day, held at forty-six places in Ohio last year, and in some of the larger cities of the United States, plans are already under way for another celebration this year to be held on the evening of November 29th. This jollification will be finer and bigger in every way and will include in its scope many of the important cities of the United States. Instead of a State celebration, it will be nationwide in its appeal. Wahoos will be chanted, the old college songs will be sung and a fresh enthusiasm for the new Ohio State will be kindled in every section of the State and beyond.

Ohio State men and women in this vicinity are already making elaborate preparation under the efficient direction of Earl Barnett, who has been appointed chairman of the local organization by the Central Ohio committee at Columbus. It is likely that the reunion of the old grads and former students in this neighborhood will be held at the Odd Fellows' hall.

The roster of former students who acknowledge allegiance to Ohio State University and who are bending every effort to make the celebration a success, includes the following persons: H. B. Dahl, Chas. Allen, Miss Mina Rowe, Howard Hegler, Ralph Penn, Dr. Lucy Pine, Dr. Roberts, Fred West and Jess Kellough, Ora Allen, Clarence Craig and Harry Rankin.

STATE EXAMINER DEWEES FILES REPORT OF WORK

State Examiner Hamilton G. Dewees, who spent a week or ten days in this city a few weeks ago examining the books of the various school districts and townships of the county has filed his report, and a copy has been forwarded to Auditor Henkle.

All of the auditor's records were found to be correct. A finding of excessive compensation, made by Examiner C. P. Godfrey in 1910, against I. N. Rowe, of Concord township, was found to have been paid in full. Like findings made by Godfrey against Wm. Bradfute, clerk of Union township for $50 and $25 each against L. P. Saxton and J. E. Smith, trustees, had not been paid.

Practically all of the books were found in good condition. The clerk of Green township was found to have not qualified as treasurer, since the duties of the treasurer were assumed. A number of illegal payments are cited against two of the Paint township trustees, who had their sons to use their teams and draw the pay.

Attention was called to the "neglect" of the past two treasurers and the present treasurer of Union township, where no receipts, dates or balances are shown. The trustees are censured for not requiring a balance of the book as required by law. The examiner stated that he had reason to believe that the law would be complied with in the future.

"Why, I found out afterward that her mother was a stockholder in the taxicab company."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"New" Freight Depot Is Full

The D. T. & I. has a brand new freight depot in this city—the men's waiting room.

The waiting room is filled to overflowing with merchandise which should have been moving toward its destination long before, but the scarcity of cars is so great that a congestion of outgoing merchandise resulted, and it became necessary to throw open the men's waiting room and store the goods.

Thursday morning there was not a single car available, and usually from five to ten cars are necessary to handle the outgoing shipments. The shortage of cars has been becoming worse for some time, and a protest from local shippers is to be expected over delay in shipments.

Gets 50c. For 10,000 Bushels

Wednesday evening the last of 10,000 bushels of new corn, sold by V. R. McCoy to the Fayette Grain Company in this city, was delivered, and according to a contract entered into on August 28, Mr. McCoy was paid 50c per bushel for the corn, which was to be loaded on the cars at Octa or delivered here.

The 10,000 bushels was part of 40,000 bushels that the Fayette Grain company contracted at 50c per bushel. John McDonald, manager of the Fayette Grain Co., states that already some 90,000 bushels of corn has been received at the elevator here, and that during the season some 90,000 bushels of wheat were received.

HOLDS TRACTION MEETING

DISTRIBUTES CONTRACTS

Another meeting of the property owners who are interested in the building of a traction line from this city to Hillsboro was held at the town hall at Buena Vista, Wednesday, night, and even more persons than attended the previous meeting were present.

Chas. S. Sollars presided over the meetings, and revised contracts were distributed among several dozen landowners, and are to be signed and turned over to Mr. Sollars soon. Interest has been so great that persons living near the proposed route have expressed a willingness to join in to help build the line that touches the farms of their more fortunate neighbors.

Contracts for those living one and two miles off the road are being prepared. These call for $3 and $2, respectively, per acre.

Mr. Sollars and Mr. O. T. Grafton, the latter being associated with Mr. Sollars in the enterprise, will commence the work of gathering up the contracts along the line between Washington and Hillsboro.

During an interview the promoter stated that negotiations with the interests which are expected to build the road, are progressing very satisfactorily, and rapidly assuming form.

Fayette Student Sent From Field

Carl Hyer, of Bloomingburg, attending Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware, where he has attracted no little attention by his good football playing, was sent from the field Thursday, and may not be permitted to finish the season with the team.

A dispatch from Delaware regarding the affair, says: "Developments which sent 'Doc' Hyer, left half, from the field and probably from a place in Wesleyan's lineup, came swiftly in the scrimmage work this afternoon. There is very little probability that Hyer will now go in to end his football career, at least on a college team, with his mates against Ohio State on Saturday.

The action of Coach Banks in sending Hyer out was but the very probable result of the player's actions throughout the season. With somewhat of a disposition of his own, he has at times proved insubordinate and has evidenced a spirit that is not cordially appreciated in contests like football where team work and team spirit is such a necessary factor. Only in the last few days, however, has the insubordination reached a point where sudden and effective action became the only solution to the question. Hasty words, wholly uncalled for this afternoon when Coach Banks was giving instruction on a play, brought a penalty that was wholly justified, even in face of Ohio State's coming on Saturday.

Hyer's absence will mean that Potts will go in at left half against state. There are many who feel that the change is best, anyway. Hyer at times has been erratic. At times an excellent player, now and then he has made costly fumbles. Tonight throughout the town and varsity circles, the sympathy is entirely with Coach Banks in the move he made. Hyer's absence ought not to weaken the team, as Potts is capable of playing a splendid game at half. An ankle has been giving him slight trouble, but he will be in good shape for Saturday. On reserve for these positions, Touvelle ranks above his associates.

CAVE DWELLERS ALL BLIND.

Animals That Live Underground Have Sensitive Organs of Hearing.

The underlife of the caves has a world of its own. Animals are born in subterranean caverns hallowed out by streams, develop, reproduce and die while forever deprived of the sunlight. There is no cave mammal except a rat nor is there a cave bird. There are no animals that require much nourishment.

Grottoes with underground rivers have the most life. Usually the subterranean life resembles the general types of the country. It has entered the cave and become acclimated there, undergoing divers adaptive modifications. So we generally find, in modified forms, the life of our time. But in some caverns there seem to be the remains of an ancient animal life that has everywhere else disappeared from terrestrial rivers and lives only in certain caverns.

The creatures of modern species that have adapted themselves to underground conditions are sharply separated from the light dwellers. Their skin is whitish or transparent. The eye atrophies or disappears altogether. The optic nerve and the optic lobe disappear, leaving the brain profoundly modified. Other organs develop in proportion. Those of hearing, smell and touch become large. Sensitive hairs, long and coarse, appear all over the body.

Undergoes Major Operation

Mr. C. W. Mark, who was taken to Mt. Carmel hospital a week ago for special treatment, was operated upon Tuesday, the operation a major one, which Mr. Mark was not thought in condition to undergo when first taken to the hospital.

Mr. J. B. Mark and Mr. B. L. Sollars were with Mr. Mark during the operation, the former remaining with his brother until last night.

A host of friends, by no means confined to this city or county, are glad to learn that the operation is thought to be quite successful and that the patient will regain his health.

Turks Ponder Allies' Terms

the other, Turkey. Montenegro began hostilities Oct. 4. Bulgaria, Serbia and Greece had invaded Turkey within a week. The Turks won not a single important engagement, unless their defense of Constantinople may be considered one.

Of European Turkey every square foot has fallen into the allies' hands, except Constantinople and a 30-mile square patch adjoining it, and the towns of Adrianople and Scutari.

Here's an estimate of casualties: Turkey, 20,000 men killed, 100,000 wounded; Bulgaria, 10,000 killed, 40,000 wounded; Serbia, 3,500 killed, 16,500 wounded; Montenegro, 800 killed, 5,200 wounded; Greece, 300 killed, 2,200 wounded.

In addition to the cost of maintaining their usual military establishments, it is estimated the warring states have spent $150,000,000, not counting injury to trade, destruction of property or the lost services of the killed or maimed.

Turks Did Not Surrender.

Belgrade, Nov. 21.—The Turks at Monastir did not surrender, but fled in all directions. The newspapers here demand that an investigation be made to ascertain who telegraphed the incorrect reports to the effect that from 40,000 to 50,000 prisoners had been taken. Official details of the capture of Monastir are still lacking.

INDOOR WALKING.

Surprising Figures Disclosed by a Hotel Keeper's Pedometer.

How far do you walk in a day? Not in the street, not even outdoors, but in your house or place of business? It is a safe bet that few busy persons could come within a mile of telling.

The manager of one of the largest hotels in New York decided some time ago to find out exactly how much indoor walking he did, so he bought a pedometer and carried it with him on his daily rounds. He seldom walks up or down a stairway, using the elevators for perpendicular travel, but he does visit every part of his building at least once a day.

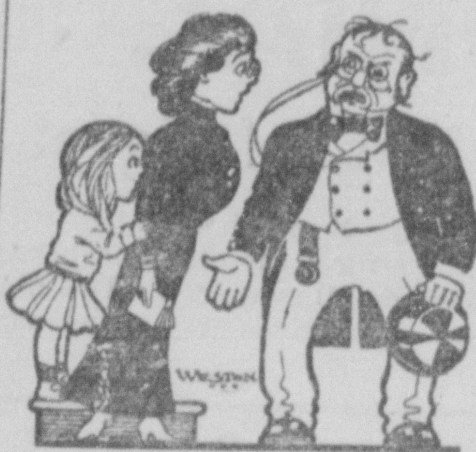

The pedometer experiment convinced him after a week's trial that his walking about the hotel alone amounted to from eight to eleven miles a day.

Now let some active housekeeper who does part of her own work apply the same test. How many miles a day would her little clock register?

Ocean's Toll in Soil.

One of the most startling facts coming to the American public from the latest report of the Secretary of Agriculture is that the rivers of the United States are annually pouring into the ocean not less than one billion tons of sediment, and that this immense volume of waste consists of the most valuable elements of the soil, the very richest material, as the Secretary calls it, "the cream of the soil." At a moderate appraisal the annual loss exceeds all the land taxes of the whole country, and this loss is steadily increasing instead of decreasing. This does not take into account the coarse detritus which is pushed along the sides of the larger streams. Then we have to take into account, besides the soil impoverishment, that the sediment pollutes the waters that carry it, endangering the lives of those who are compelled to use them, and reducing their value for manufacturing and other domestic purposes.—The Independent.

DANGEROUS LEARNING.

The irate parent—No siree bob! My daughter ain't goin' to speak no piece about "Learn to Say No." I've got five more of them home and if they are goin' to learn to say anything, it'll be "Yea."

WHERE WOMEN FIRST VOTED.

Equal Suffrage Had Its Origin in New Jersey in 1776.

The renewed agitation for equal suffrage recalls the almost forgotten fact that in New Jersey was first extended to women the right of suffrage on the same terms as to men.

On the second day of July, 1776 (two days before the signing of the Declaration of Independence), says the Detroit Free Press, the first constitution convention of New Jersey, in session at Burlington for the purpose of revising the old Colonial charter, struck out of the suffrage clause the words "male freeholders" and inserted the words "all inhabitants." It then read "All inhabitants worth £50."

On this property qualification women voted "in increasing numbers" until 1807. Only those few women could vote who owned $250 worth of property, and these were almost all federalists. That party continued to control the State until 1807, when for the first time the Democratic party obtained a majority in the Legislature. The Democrats at once proceeded to disfranchise the white women and free negroes by an act which, it is said, was clearly unconstitutional, but which never was contested. In 1844 a new constitution removed any question on the subject by using the words "white male citizen."
